The Center for Domestic Preparedness (CDP) invites you to join us as we conduct a focused training week to enhance emergency management/response capabilities of Tribal Nations and promote collaboration among partners to better serve Tribal Nation communities.

The Center for Domestic Preparedness will host the 4th Annual Tribal Nations Training Week on the CDP campus in Anniston, AL. This is a unique training opportunity for emergency responders serving Tribal Nations to network and train alongside their colleagues from around the country.

Training is federally funded to include roundtrip transportation, meals, lodging and training at no cost to participating tribal, state and local jurisdictions.

Participants can choose one of six training lanes comprised of classes offered by the CDP and its training partners. Each lane includes 40 hours of training over five days, with evening activities built in to provide additional networking opportunities.

Training Lanes:
- Healthcare Leadership for Mass Casualty Incidents (HCL) / Integrated Capstone Event (ICE) (CDP)
- Medical Management of CBRNE Events (NERRTC) / Hospital Emergency Response Training for Mass Casualty Incidents (HERT) with Integrated Capstone Event (ICE) (CDP)
- Managing Public Information for All Hazards Incidents (MPI) (CDP) / Emergency Operations Plans for Rural Jurisdictions (RDPC)
- Incident Command: Capabilities, Planning and Response Actions for All Hazards (IC) (CDP) / Surface Transportation – Emergency Planning and Security (TTCI/SERTC)
- Environmental Health Training in Emergency Response - Operations (EHTER OPS) / Integrated Capstone Event (ICE) (CDP)
- Protective Measures Course (PMC) (CDP) / Critical Decision Making for Complex Coordinated Attacks (NCBRT) / Community Based Response to all-hazards threats in Tribal communities (RDPC) / Introduction to Radiological/Nuclear Weapons of Mass Destruction (WMD) Operations (CTOS)
